York for Henry G. Moore, son of the late Andrew Moore, a Philadelphia millionaire, for the purpose of enforcing a judgment obtained against him by his wife, Gertrude L. Moore, for $2266.29 alimony and interest, awarded her under a decree of divorce obtained in the Pennsylvania courts.

An interesting question of law has arisen in the case as to the power of the courts of one State to enforce the payment of alimony awarded in another.

In [illegible] forth [illegible] married in Philadelphia, July 29, 1888, and resided together in that city until November, 1891. Moore is said to have an income of $17,000 a year from his father's estate.

Mrs. Moore began her action for divorce in the courts of Pennsylvania in June, 1892. A decree was awarded her May 1 of last year, and she was given alimony of $4,000 a year.

Moore ignored the order of the court, and when six months had elapsed she began suit to recover $1,998.98 arrears of alimony. Justice Delahanty sustained Mrs. Moore's suit, and directed that judgment be entered against Moore for the amount claimed, with costs and interest. An appeal was taken to the Appellate term, and is now pending.—Phila North American.

Presbytery of Monmouth.

The spring meeting of the Presbytery of Monmouth opened Tuesday morning at the Presbyterian Church, Mount Holly, with about ninety members in attendance. The Presbytery meets four times a year, but the April meeting is the most important, the annual narrative and statistical reports being received from all the churches, and four delegates elected to the General Assembly. More than the usual interest attaches to the election of these delegates this year on account of the distant meeting place of the General Assembly—Los An

Are impure matters which the [illegible], liver, kidneys and other organs can not take care of without help, when there is such an accumulation of them.

They litter the whole system.

Pimples, boils, eczema and other eruptions, loss of appetite, tired feeling, bilious turns, fits of indigestion, dull headaches and many other troubles are due to them.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove all humors, overcome their effects, strengthen, tone and invigorate the whole system.

"I had salt rheum on my hands so that I could not work. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it drove out the humor. I continued its use till the sores disappeared. Mrs. Ida O. Brown, Rumford Falls, Me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

Trolley car No. 18 jumped the track, Saturday, at London bridge, and went down an embankment with eight passengers, none of whom were seriously hurt. The conductor was Fennimore; the motorman, Richmond. The greatest trouble was in getting the car on the track again.

Monday evening, Wm. Morton, a grocery clerk, was struck by a locomotive while crossing the Amboy Division track and hurled a [illegible] feet. He, of course, is badly injured. When taken to his home he was about half conscious.

Mount Holly.—The People's Traction Company which has bobbed up often lately, has secured from the township committee a franchise to use Water and High streets to the township line on the Burlington road. It would be very interesting to have a full list of the various trolley and telephone companies securing franchises in New Jersey in the past five or six years. In the sweet by and by, when all the counties, towns and townships have done their part, it would not be surprising to many people to see them Morganized for the "community of interests."
